

Logistics Learning Alliance in conjunction with the Fritz Institute and the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport has launched a unique qualification – the Fritz Certification in Humanitarian Logistics.

The Certification is a key element in providing professionalism as it is now accepted that empathy and a social conscience alone are not enough.

Teams of professional logisticians are required to ensure that emergency supplies are moved swiftly through integrated supply chains with dovetailing functional areas and individuals who have a thorough understanding of the impact of their activities up and down stream.
